Why RALORO implants are making news in feedlot trials!

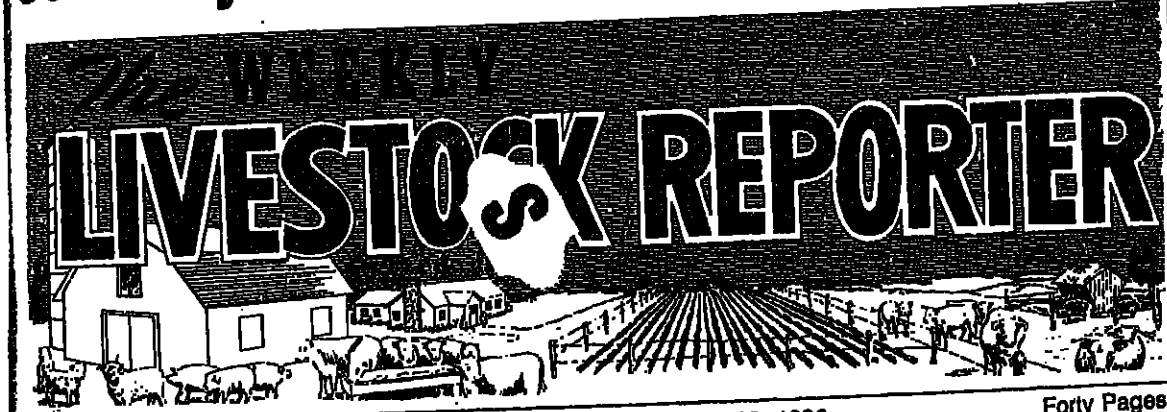

A recent independent study of finishing steers compared the effects of Synovex S implants and RALORO implants on feedlot performance and carcass characteristics. This study represents the largest, most comprehensive cattle implant trial in recent years.

Feedlot steers were implanted with RALORO implants and compared with Synovex S implants. The RALORO implants showed a significant increase in feedlot gain and carcass weight compared to the Synovex S implants.

The study was conducted by a team of researchers from a major university. The results showed that RALORO implants provided a clear advantage in feedlot performance and carcass characteristics over Synovex S implants.

For more information on RALORO implants, contact your local feedlot or contact the manufacturer directly.

MOVING? Please use term inside paper and give full information. Moving list is run on Friday following week.

THE NEWS IS FULL OF CRISIS OF ANGUISH these days from businesses and medical men and just about everyone else about the soaring costs of insurance, particularly liability insurance. The blame depends on who you happen to be listening to. However, the reason for the complaints is agreed on by one and all, it is the size of the judgments being laid out by the courts and the juries hearing various grievances about injuries, real or imagined, or the faulty performance of manufactured stuff of one kind or another.

Some of these judgments have been so severe that they have put companies and individuals out of business, and whether they should have been turned out just depends on which side of the argument you happen to be listening to.

Fed Cattle Mixed, Hogs Mostly Lower At Markets Monday

Market supplies of cattle were lower at the central markets on Monday due to winter storms. Fed cattle prices were mixed, but mostly trending lower. Slaughter cows and bulls were also mixed as to gains or losses at these markets. Monday's estimated cattle kill at 114,000 was 7,000 below a week ago and 14,000 below a year earlier.

Hog prices worked lower at most of these markets, except at St. Paul which bucked the trend with a 50¢ advance. Monday's hog kill estimated at 278,000 was 22,000 under a week ago and 11,000 below a year earlier.

Price trends, quotations on choice and prime steers and hogs and on good to choice Holstein steers and on U.S. 1-3 hogs selling 200 to 280 pounds included.

Snow, Cold Weather Affecting Cattle Performance in Texas, Oklahoma

Kansas City, Feb. 10 (KRF) - Snow and cold weather since Friday in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles have impeded cattle weight gains and weight losses could increase if cold weather remains in the area, feedlot managers told Knight-Ridder Financial News.

Since Friday, these areas have received 5 to 16 inches of snow, with the most falling in the Hereford and Amarillo areas in Texas, said market sources and Global Weather Services.

Fed cattle in these areas are 10 to 15 pounds lighter than they should be today because of the weekend weather, said Steve Johnson, market analyst for the Texas Cattle Feeders Association. Johnson and other feedlot managers said cattle were able to maintain weight, but if low temperatures continue, they could start to lose weight.

The snow and cold may delay marketings in the near term if feedlot managers wait until cattle reach market weight, Johnson said. Snow and ice covered roads in the Texas panhandle also could delay shipments to packers, which temporarily may reduce slaughter levels, he said.

Snowfall should end tonight in western Oklahoma and the Texas

105 Million Head Estimated Compared To 110 Million in 1985, Calf Crop Down by 3%, Figures Rated Bullish

Washington, Feb. 10 (USDA) - All cattle and calves in the United States as of January 1, 1986, totaled 105 million head, down 4% from the 110 million on January 1, 1985 and 7% below the 114 million two years ago, according to the Crop Reporting Board. This continued the recent downward trend in cattle inventories for the fourth consecutive year and was the lowest number on hand since 1982. All cows and heifers that have calved at 44.8 million, down 3% from 46.2 million a year down 8% from 48.6 million two years ago and the lowest since 1981.

Beef cows at 33.6 million are 5% below January 1, 1985 and the lowest since 1986. Milk cows, at 11.2 million are 3% above January 1, 1985 and the highest since 1975.

Other class estimates on January 1, 1986 and the changes from January 1, 1985 and two years ago respectively are as follows:

All heifers 500 pounds and over 18.0 million down 8% and 3%.

Beef replacement heifers, 5.15 million, down 7% and 17%.

Other heifers 3.09 million, up fractionally and up 3%.

Milk replacement heifers 4.70 million, virtually unchanged and up 6%.

Steers weighing 600 pounds and over, 2.26 million, down 2% from both years.

Bulls weighing 600 pounds and over, 2.26 million, down 6% and 11%.

Calves under 600 pounds, 24.4 million, down 8% and 12%.

All cattle and calves on feed for slaughter 11.4 million, down 8% and 2%.

The 1986 calf crop is estimated at 41.0 million down 3% from 1984, down 7% from 1983 and is the lowest since 1981. The estimated calf crop is down the first half of the year's estimate at 71.5% of the annual total.

Reliability and estimating procedures: Primary data used in making cattle estimates in this report were obtained from a sample of farmers and ranchers across the U.S. using probability surveys. Information was collected by mail, telephone and personal interview. Since all operations with cattle were not included in the sample survey estimates are subject to sampling variability. This variability, as measured by the relative standard error, is less than one percent of the total cattle and calves at the national level. This means that chances are approximately 95 out of 100 that the survey estimates will be within two percent of the complete coverage value if the same procedures were used to survey all producers. The sampling variability of estimates for all cows and from the calf crop is slightly larger than that for total inventory.

Survey estimates are also subject to non-sampling errors such as omissions, duplications and mistakes in reporting, recording and processing the data. These errors cannot be measured directly but they are minimized through rigid quality controls in the data collections process and a careful review of all reported data for consistency and reasonableness.

In setting the inventory estimates the Crop Board used survey estimates of inventory numbers, births, and deaths. These survey estimates were combined with reliable check data from other sources on slaughter, imports and exports to construct a national balance sheet which provided an additional check on survey inventory estimates - Crop Reporting Board USDA.

Editor's Note

Due to sleet, snow and icy road conditions several of the livestock markets usually reported in The Weekly Livestock Reporter either had too few cattle for a sale or the sale was postponed due to the hazardous conditions. Extraordinary bad weather over most of the country over the weekend and on Monday limited movement and marketing activity of all kinds.

Reagan Budget Proposes 1987 USDA Outlays Of $19.5 Billion

Washington - The Reagan Administration's proposed fiscal 1987 budget calls for total outlays of $19.5 billion for fiscal 1987, down from an estimated $20.5 billion for fiscal 1986, with total USDA budget authority of $19.6 billion, down from $20.1 billion estimated in fiscal 1986.

According to Administration budget documents, the USDA proposals are aimed at scaling down government involvement and subsidies in several areas, particularly in insurance, applied research and other business services.

The request for the Farmers Home Administration contains $4 billion in total credit authority to ensure that higher-risk farmers have the operating credit needed to continue operations. The documents said that request would continue the trend toward less direct government lending and more private panhandle, but high temperatures will be in the teens (40C to 120C) at least until Thursday and lows could range from 0 (-18C) today in the northern panhandle to 5 to 10 (-15 to -12C) elsewhere in the panhandle GWS reported.

At Sugarland feedyard in Hereford, Texas, assistant manager Burt Parker said cattle today weighed about 15 to 20 pounds less than they should because of the recent cold weather. Parker said if temperatures remained in the teens this week, additional weight losses were expected.

About 15 to 16 inches (38-41cm) of snow has fallen at Sugarland since late last week, Parker said, and about 9 (23cm) remain. The cattle are not muddy yet, but some are becoming muddy, he said.

Snow depths decreased farther north. In the Oklahoma panhandle, accumulations ranged from 2 to 7 inches (5-18cm), GWS said. Extreme southwest Kansas received 1 to 5 inches (2.5-12.5cm) during the weekend with lesser amounts elsewhere, GWS said.

Bob Price, Western Livestock Market Information Project leader, said the weather could be supportive to near-term cattle prices if marketings were delayed. However, he cautioned a withholding effort could lead to a backlog and possibly lower prices.

In western Nebraska, as much as 12 inches (30cm) had accumulated during the weekend with temperatures as low as -20 (-31C) this morning, GWS and feedlot sources said. Riggan Blackburn, cattle and marketing manager of Grassdale feedyard, Scottsbluff, Neb., estimated some cattle there were about 50 pounds behind in weight gains because water and feed consumption decreased during the weekend storm.

The storm brought about 12 inches (30cm) of snow, and this morning temperatures reached about -20 (-29C), he said.

Sub-zero and single-digit temperatures were reported in other areas of the corn belt this morning, and livestock sources attributed light hog and cattle marketings at some terminals to the cold weather.

In South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, sub-zero temperatures were reported, but no significant snowfall was reported. Only a minimal effect on cattle because the sun was shining and there was no wind, feedlot sources said.

from last years crop. The 16.7 million acres harvested for grain is up 9% from last year. Yield averaged a record high 60.7 bushels per acre more than 10 bushels higher than last year. Oats production in 1985 is estimated at 519 million bushels 9% above the 1984 crop. A record high average yield, at 63.6 bushels per acre more than offset a fractional decrease from a year ago in acres harvested for grain.

Barley production in 1985 is estimated at 589 million bushels down 2% from last year's record high production. Average yield per acre is 51.0 bushels, down 2.4 bushels from 1984.

Feed grains production of feed grains (corn, sorghum, oats and barley) totaled 274 million metric tons, up 16% from last years 237 million metric tons.

All hay production in 1985 is 149 million tons, down 1% from last year's record high level. Area harvested in 1985, at 60.6 million acres, is also down 1%, at 1984. The U.S. average yield at 2.46 tons per acre is slightly above last year.

All wheat: Production in 1985 totaled 2.42 billion bushels, 7% less than in 1984. Area harvested for grain at 44.4 million acres, down 1% from 44.9 million acres in 1984.

Rice: Production for 1985 is estimated at 136 million hundredweight down 2% from last year.

Reagan Budget Proposes 1987 USDA Outlays Of $19.5 Billion

loan guarantees that began in 1986 and was included in the 1985 farm law.

In the area of price supports, the administration said it planned to "fully utilize" the discretionary authority outlined in the farm act to set loan rates at market-clearing levels and to cut back incentives for over-production.

The administration said use of the farm act's discretionary authority should eliminate artificially high price supports, which in turn should increase U.S. exports and reduce the need for subsidies.

Although budget outlays are expected to continue high during fiscal 1987 and 1988 because of frozen target prices, the gradual reduction in target prices during later years of the 5-year farm act, combined with expected growth in exports, should lead to "significant reductions in outlays for price support programs after 1989," the documents said.

While the U.S. must continue to rely on free market commercial exports as the key to U.S. farm trade success, a portion of export sales still cannot occur without government help, the documents said. Proposed subsidized export credit for fiscal 1987 is $3 billion, which the documents said was 130% over the 1981 level of total Commodity Credit Corp. export credit assistance.

The Administration's fiscal 1987

budget proposal continues to support the move toward guaranteed loans for the Farmers Home Administration and away from direct loans.

According to budget documents, FMHA expects to have outstanding guaranteed loans of $11.218 billion in 1987, up from $10.088 billion in 1986 and $6.479 billion in 1985. Guaranteed farm operating loans are expected to total $2.5 billion, up from $1.87 billion estimated for this year.

Outstanding direct loans in 1987 are projected at $45.803 billion, down from $49.630 billion in 1986. New direct loans are projected at $1.818 billion, down from $3.198 billion in 1986.

The administration proposes further reductions in FMHA's credit program in 1988 and 1989.

The president's proposed fiscal 1987 budget estimates outlays for USDA commodity price support programs at $16.341 billion, compared with $16.341 billion in 1986 and $16.341 billion in 1985.

The price support estimate for 1987 is $17.818 billion, and in 1988 $17.818 billion.

However, the administration intends to propose legislation over the next three years to reduce the outlays for price supports and related programs. The budget documents did not provide details on that proposed legislation. Commodity price support and related programs include such major programs as price support loans, deficiency payments and programs in which the government buys surplus commodities. They are a large part of the budget for USDA's Commodity Credit Corp.

The budget proposal calls for total budget outlays for USDA's statistical reporting service of $59.1 million, up from $58.5 million estimated for this year, according to documents released.

STIS budget authority would be $59.1 million, up from $58.2 million in 1986.

Outlays for the Economic Research Service would be $45.4 million, compared with $45.0 million this year. Budget authority would be $45.5 million, up from $44.1 million in 1986.

Ft. Worth Show Highly Successful

The 90th edition of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show closed Feb. 2 on a high note with grounds attendance surpassing the 700,000 mark, said W. R. Watt Jr., president/manager.

Paid attendance for the 23 performances of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo totaled 121,712. Both figures were ahead of a year earlier, he said.

"We had a very outstanding show with extremely good weather," Watt said, and "are indebted to a great many people who gave their time and effort to assure a successful and entertaining show this year. The cast of the Texas Senqu Coastal production, in the rodeo exerted exceptional effort, giving their all to entertain the audiences."

The Junior division Sale of Champions generated about $400,000. Coors Distributing of Tarrant County and Maestri Liquors of Fort Worth combined to buy the Grand Champion steer for $90,000. Pension Planning Associates, Walnut Health Insurance, and American Service Life Insurance joined to purchase the Reserve Champion for $15,000. The Downtown Stock Show Auction Syndicate purchased 130 head in the sale for $805,560. Another volume buyer was Dairy Queens of Texas.

Overall big winner at the rodeo was Jimmie Cooper of New Mexico, who won $15,888 in calf roping and steer wrestling. He was top calf roper. Other champions were Steve Duhon, Louisiana, steer wrestling; Robin Burwash, Canada, bareback; Tom Reeves, South Dakota, saddle bronc; and Chuck Simonson, North Dakota, bull riding.

Lori Johnson Allen, Hillsboro, Texas, won the Girls Barrel Race. Over 16,000 head of livestock were entered with livestock and rodeo premiums exceeding $400,000.

Probably one of the most talked about new events was the "Pork Chop Downs" pig race, a specialty event sponsored at the show by WBAP Radio.

The All-Western Parade, held in downtown Fort Worth on the Saturday preceding the show, generated a record entry rising clouds, horse-drawn vehicles and bands, and had over 130,000 persons watching. Among show visitors were representatives from over 50 foreign nations, making the show truly an international event.

Watt said show dates for 1987 will be Jan. 28 through Feb. 8. Advance mail orders for rodeo tickets will be accepted at the Stock Show office after May 1.

Bred by the world famous King Ranch to thrive in the rugged South Texas harsh country, these hardy cattle are adaptable to a variety of climates from a hot, Southern summer to a cold, Canadian winter. Santa Gertrudis has long been recognized as a "growth breed," able to grow rapidly and effec-

Jim Eller, co-owner and senior vice president of Granada Corp., is not inclined to take the credit for the technological application advances made by his company. He said, "If there's one thing I am good at, it is hiring innovative people with vision, and giving them a free hand. These people are responsible for the innovations and success of Granada."

Eller and his brother, David G. Eller, co-founded Granada Land and Cattle Co. in 1979. "Granada started originally as a partnership because David and I wanted to do something together," says Eller. "We both had careers carrying us in different directions, but we had things in common we wanted to pursue."

Today, Granada Corporation is involved in genetic research, embryo transfer, purebred cattle management and marketing, cattle feeding, meat retailing, equine services, and Brangus, Angus, Simmental, Brahman and Shorthorn cattle. These services are all part of various operating subsidiaries - Granada Land and Cattle Co., Inc., Granada Genetics, Inc., Granada International, Granada Equine Service, Inc., Granada Financial Services, Granada Cattle Services and Granada Management Corp., among others.

In the area of beef production, Granada's main subsidiaries have developed and applied technology which has resulted in benefits to the beef industry, the award citation said. Granada Genetics has become a world leader in the field of bovine embryo transfer. It is the largest commercial transfer company in the world, producing more than 10,000 pregnancies per year. This production involves the use of advanced technology by trained personnel, accomplished in the heat of detection, superovulation, embryo collection, pupation and transfer.

"I give credit for the growth and expansion of this operation to the man at the helm of Granada Genetics," Eller said. "We run thousands of females through the ET (embryo transfer) program... this naturally led us into research."

That research led Granada to production of superior genetics for use in the cattle industry, it was noted. Ongoing research includes: genetic engineering - the construction of synthetic genes, which affect such economically important traits as growth rate, feed conversion efficiency and disease resistance; embryo freezing; embryo sexing; embryo freezing; and superovulation.

Looking down the road, Eller said, "We hope to provide females and bulls to the commercial producer that have constant growth performance." In addition, Eller sees the day when a producer can buy a bull that produces only one sex of calf. "If a cow/calf man can have a 100% calf crop every year - and that's not impossible - and wear a heavy enough calf to go into the feedyard, and if that yard can shorten its finish time, that's efficiency...and efficiency is the key to profitability," Eller said.

Eller was selected by a special committee. The award presentation was by George Spencer, vice president of public affairs, IBP.

South Texas Feedlots
San Antonio, Feb 6 (F-S) -

Due to a tremendous expected increase in the state's population by the year 2000, the demand for milk and other dairy products is expected to exceed 12.7 billion pounds per year. Texas normally produces only enough milk to meet the demand or about 46.7 percent of the milk needed to supply the fluid milk and manufacturing cheese, ice cream and other dairy products.

State's Economy

Dairying has been an important segment of Texas agriculture since early settlement. According to Dr. Max Sudweeks, dairy specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the number of milking cows in the state has declined from 1.6 million head in 1945 to about 320,000. However, in this same period, production per cow has increased from 3,300 pounds per year to 11,407 pounds per year.

Dairying ranks third in the state behind beef cattle and cotton in gross farm receipts. More than 556 million dollars is returned to dairymen from the sale of milk. For nearly 20 years, Texas has ranked in the top 10 states in total milk production and was in eighth place in 1985.

The cost of producing milk in Texas is higher than some other regions of the country, but Texas dairymen are producing better quality forages and with better management are competitive with most of the dairy states. It costs approximately $10.47 to produce 100 pounds of milk in Texas, while California has a cost of $11.50, Pennsylvania costs $13.33 and Florida costs approximately $13.36. Texas dairymen must take advantage of the latest technology to remain competitive, Sudweeks says. Such things as greater use of artificial insemination, better use of production records, more financial planning, greater emphasis on long production, greater efficiency in feeding and better management are essential to being a successful dairyman.

Stuph & Thangs . . .

It has gotten so bad in medical malpractice claims that increasing numbers of medical people including doctors and technicians are opting for different fields of endeavor. More and more doctors, they say, are seeking salaried jobs rather than private practices.

One of the problems seems to be that a lot of cases develop from what might be termed professional plaintiffs. Some efforts have been made to list these folks who seem more inclined to sue somebody than otherwise and these chronic plaintiffs are reported up in arms over being black listed by the professions and business folks.

We were told by one of the representatives of one of the largest insurance firms in the country that most health and accident insurers were refusing to write such coverages for farmers and ranchers. Reason, they said, was that jury were such that it was impossible to weed the fakers out of the genuinely injured. Back injuries are impossible of diagnosis. Proving whether a back injury is real or faked is beyond proving. Businesses of all kinds are in fear & trembling over product liability suits of every kind, and some of the judgments the courts and the juries award are beyond belief. For example take the recent hassle between Texaco and Pennzoil. It can either be viewed as a kangaroo court affair or a lesson for the big & ugly businesses referred to as the Corporation of folks. In very size of that $11 billion plus is a good example of what has the rest of the business community quaking.

We would be the very last person in the world to say what we need are any more laws. But this situation is getting ridiculous and someone, somewhere needs to come up with some answers.

Ever Thine.
P.S.: Uncle Dunk says of all the ideas least likely to succeed was that from Budget Director Stephen Dewhurst of USDA. He suggested that in order to meet the balanced budget demands generated by Gramm-Rudman the department simply trim the needed 4.5% off each and every check they write. Whoooo, Boy! Would that start the walkin' ringin'! — Thassal, Brotheral Move round bales as gently as hydraulics without leaving your pickup seat!

Priefert Hay Dolly

No winches
No hydraulics
No electrical connections

Don't Damage Your Roof!

When you get moisture under the roof of the bale, it can't dry out and this spoils the hay. The Priefert Hay Dolly never touches the roof, never drops or rolls the bale. With no bale damage, there's seldom bale spoilage.

The Priefert Hay Dolly hooks to your pickup or tractor with only a simple pin hitch and trip rope. Because brakes are not required, the Hay Dolly works well in bad ground conditions. The simplicity of the Priefert bale mover will amaze you and assure you of a long, productive life for this unit.

Producers May See Profits on Cattle, Hogs in 1986

Topeka, Kan. (KRF) — There will be opportunities to profit this year for those who sell slaughter hogs and fed cattle but those times will be sporadic and producers must "catch them when they can," said LBAS consulting group livestock market analyst Joe Kropf.

Speaking to farmers at a WIBW Radio-sponsored farm profit seminar here, Kropf said profits were elusive for cattle and hog producers last year and negative returns most of the time resulted in the lowest number of beef cattle and hogs since the early 1980s.

LBAS estimates first quarter fed steer prices to average $62.25 per cwt. and second quarter prices to average in the mid-$60.00 area, possibly reaching as high as $67.00, basis the Omaha terminal market. Kropf conceded the first be reached in the second quarter. He said feedlots are current but there is "a world of current cattle out there" still to be sold in the next 30 days. Second quarter prices will be influenced, as they were last year, by what happens in the first quarter, he said.

LBAS expects fed steer prices in the third quarter to average $64.00 and in the fourth quarter, $62.00, but Kropf said long-range prices are difficult to predict because of the variety of factors that will come into play.

Those factors most crucial to fed cattle prices this year will be slaughter weights, cow slaughter levels, consumer demand and the supply of competing meats, he said.

Kropf does not expect the increase in dairy cow slaughter, likely from the dairy portion of the 1985 farm act, to greatly affect fed cattle prices.

LBAS expects feeder steer prices to average $55.25 in the first quarter and in the mid-$60.00 area the second quarter, $66.00 in third and $61.00 in the fourth quarter, although he said those prices may be too optimistic.

James Michener wrote a book called TEXAS and he should be ashamed. He failed to capture the true spirit of the state. When it comes to lying, exaggeration, and stretching the truth, Michener got about as close to Texas as North Dakota.

No self-respecting writer could have portrayed the Lone Star State wearing an 8-gallon hat with a wire rim brim. He reminds me of that song, "I'm no cowboy; I just found this hat."

And you don't learn the truth about how Texans got so rich. They made it on cattle, at first, but later it was mostly grass.

A rich Texan told some out-of-state visitors that he'd like to take them out to his son's place, 1,500 acres, thoroughbred horses, 5 bedroom house.

"How old is your son?" they asked.
"He's 12," came the reply.

"How on earth did he get a place like this at 12 years of age?"

"He earned every bit of it," said the proud papa, "by making 4 A's and a B." Now that's more like it. When it comes to colorful, Texas is flaming blood red and Michener is olive drab.

Take the case of the coon dog that was time. Or the pecan tree bottom that was so rich and loaded with squirrels that at night, half of them had to sleep on the ground.

Just recently in Corpus Christi, a fellow had a pet Javelina (for you Yankees, that's sort of a cross between a hog and a porcupine) that thought he was a dog. His name was Bubba.

Bubba ate scrambled eggs for breakfast. Never bacon or sausage, although he did supplement his diet with an occasional imported meat dish... like a German Shepherd.

One day, some neighbor kids showed a mirror to Bubba. He bristled up, snorted, and ran away from home. The Wild Game Department was called. Bubba was captured and airlifted to the wilds of a nearby ranch. When Bubba's owner found out what happened, he was furious. The news media picked up the story. All Texas was upset. Volunteer search parties were sent out. One plane pulled a banner which pleaded, "Bubba, phone home."

A bar dedicated a new drink to him called a "Helluva Javelina."

So friends, if you see a wild hog that resembles his description, please report it to the Texas authorities. It could be Bubba. And you know it's got to be him if you see a javelina chasing cars, retrieving ducks, or pointing quail.

You missed the mark, Michener. Go write about Rhode Island. I'd rather follow the saga of the real TEXAS. Michener only got into this game because Texans were polite in the first place. They didn't know he was a foreigner and didn't have proper credentials until it was too late. Like my daddy told me, only once, when I was a kid, "Son, don't you ever let me hear you ask a man where he is from again. If he's from Texas, he'll tell you soon enough. If he ain't, there's no need to embarrass him."—Copyright 1984, Doc Blakely, Pokin Fun Newspaper Syndicate.

We will never get anywhere with our finances until we pass a law saying that every time we appropriate something we got to pass another bill along with it stating where the money is coming from.

Salers Champions Selected At The 1986 National Western

The weather was great, the seats were filled and the cattle were impressive as Judge Mark Richardson, At-Large, Oklahoma and associate judge Frank Padilla, Fallada, Nebraska stepped into the ring to evaluate the cattle in the 1986 National Western Show, at the National Western Stock Show, Denver, Colorado on January 13, 1986.

Coming to the winners circle as National Champion Fullblood Bull was the showing veteran, PPS BT Swale 4248. The February 16, 1984 son of Kardinal was exhibited by Beartooth Ranch, Columbus, MT and Power Pack Salers, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Judge Richardson commented on the firm freedom of motion and functionality displayed by this champion. Following Swale into the Reserve National Champion Fullblood Bull slot was Iron Duke, an entry of Glenhaven Ranch, American Falls, ID. Richardson felt that the senior calf was correct and balanced in growth and kind while displaying worlds of future. Iron Duke is an August 8, 1984 son of Jumbo Jet.

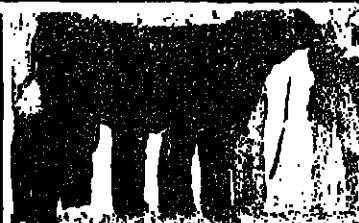

On the Purebred/Percentage side of the bull show, QCV Legonair was led to National Champion Bull honors by exhibitors S & B Salers, Broken Bow, NE. The April 17, 1984 son of TV Awesome displayed an abundance of growth and stature. Reserve National Champion Purebred/Percentage Bull was SR Rainmaker 57T. This stylish and growthy April 2, 1985 son of Banner was presented by Shady Ridge Stock Farm, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada and Ron Deeds, Springfield, CO.

On the distaff side, Fleur, a November 9, 1984 daughter of Prince, exhibited by Scattered Oaks Ranch, Bleiberville, TX, was the National Champion Fullblood Female. Femininity and productivity were the adjectives used by Judge Richardson to describe his top female. Going to Reserve National Champion Fullblood Female was Monique, a July 4, 1984 daughter of TV Awesome, this patterned miss was exhibited by Supreme Genetics, Mt. Airy, GA. Richardson stated that she followed the champion in type and kind.

The Purebred/Percentage division was headed up by a March 25, 1984 daughter of Banner, PPS Supergirl 4058 was led to the National Championship by Triple H Salers, Sauk Rapids, MN. This female was the epitome of productivity, Richardson felt. Reserve National Champion Purebred/Percentage Female was an entry of Lacey Ranches, Drummond, MT and Beartooth Ranch, Columbus, MT. LCV Miss Venture 4978, a April 7, 1984 daughter of PDD Venture 5N, is a showing veteran who was complete in her kind and function, Richardson felt.

G & T Land & Cattle Co., Quinter, KS took the Get-of-Sire award on the progeny of Kardinal, while the offspring of Westwind Regal Regal Princess won the Produce-of-Dam award for Supreme Genetics, Mt. Airy, GA. G & T Land and Cattle Co., Quinter, KS won the Premier Breeder award and Fleur, a daughter of Prince owned by Scattered Oaks Ranch of Bleiberville, Texas, was named the national champion fullblood Salers female at the 1986 National Western on January 13.

Supreme Genetics, Mr. Airy, GA won the Premier Exhibitor award.

Texas Cattlemen Introduce Beef 58 Percent Lower in Fat

Members of the American Bralers Association are announcing carcass information on Salers cross bred steers, which the USDA recently confirmed as being 58 percent lower in fat at a dinner on Tuesday, February 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Remington Hotel in Houston, Texas.

In December 1985, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that crossbred Salers beef carcasses were found to be significantly lower in fat than other breeds, and the carcasses were confirmed to be "natural" as the animals were not fed with artificial supplements or hormones prior to slaughtering. Therefore, the department labeled this Salers crossbred beef as the first carcass to be designated "Natural" and "Lite".

"We consider this news from the USDA to be a big step forward for the entire cattle industry," said Fred Buxton, Communications Chairman of the American Bralers Association. "We are using Salers cattle as the base in our Bralers program because of the incredible influence these cattle have on carcass quality."

Buxton and 13 other cattlemen are hosting a dinner to serve the Salers beef to over 100 cattle raisers interested in the Salers breed. The Bralers cattle are 58 percent lower in fat than other breeds. The association is having its first offering of this new breed of cattle at the "Cattlemen's Choice" Bralers and Salers sale in the Super Sale Salon of the Astrodome during the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo on Monday, February 17, at 7:30 p.m.

"We are crossing Salers cattle on Brahman cattle to achieve an animal that retains superior carcass quality, and is more adaptable to the warmer climates of the Southwest," said Buxton.

Salers cattle are imported from France. For the last seven years, Salers have won top carcass awards at the National Western Stock Show in Denver. "Our Bralers cattle offer the best of both worlds to the commercial and purebred cattlemen alike," said Buxton. "We are offering percentage Bralers cattle in our sale this year as well as Salers so cattlemen can achieve a purebred program in one breeding generation."

Two notable speakers will also attend the dinner to speak on behalf of the beef industry. Vanita VanCaspel, investment counselor, will address investment opportunities with cattle breeding programs; and Kitty Heister, president-elect of the 3,000-member Texas Dietetic Association, will discuss the place of beef in the American diet.

In handling men, there are three feelings that a man must not possess - fear, dislike, and contempt. If he is afraid of men he cannot handle them. Neither can he influence them in his favor if he dislikes or scorns them. He must neither cringe nor snarl. He must have both self-respect and respect for others.

Salers Pen Bulls Name Champions At National Western

The Pen Bull Show for Salers once again commanded a high amount of interest and a large crowd of spectators at the 1986 National Western Stock Show, Denver, Colorado. Judge Glenn Heisel, Keldron, South Dakota commented that although the numbers of pens weren't high, the quality was very impressive.

Going Grand was a pen of full brothers sired by EPR Randall 8R out of the TVV Miss Jewel 464R. This set of April calves, at entry of G & T Land & Cattle Co., Quinter, KS impressed Heisel with their growth, correctness and eye appeal. Taking Reserve honors was a strapping set of April calves sired by Banner and Universe that were exhibited by Wilson Ranches, Thermopolis, WY. This pen was second in class to the champions and displayed a tremendous degree of performance per day of age.

GG & T Land and Cattle Company of Quinter, Kansas exhibited the 1986 National Western Salers grand champion pen of three bulls in Denver, Colorado. They placed with sons of EPR Randall 8R.

Wilson Salers of Thermopolis, Wyoming exhibited the 1986 National Western Salers reserve grand champion pen of three bulls in Denver, Colorado, with sons of Banner and Universe.

Iron Duke, an entry of Glen Haven Ranch of American Falls, Idaho, was named the national reserve champion fullblood Salers bull at the 1986 National Western Stock Show held in Denver, Colorado on January 13. Iron Duke is an August 5, 1984 son of Jumbo Jet.

National Salers Sale Held During National Western

A consistent demand for Salers cattle was established as auctioneers Trout and Doran sold the offering at a steady pace to the filled stands at the National Salers sale during the National Western in Denver, Co. on January 14, 1986. The majority of the sale consignments were yearlings or younger with the buying price and interest being consistent throughout the sale. No record highs, but the cattle were snapped up readily with the majority of the buyers being new to the Salers business. Breakdown of the averages are as follows:

- 19% Lots, Fullblood Bulls, Averaged $6,074.
  - 4% Lots, Purebred Bulls, Averaged $3,118.
  - 10 Lots, Fullblood Females, Averaged $8,916.
  - 7 Lots, Purebred Females, Averaged $2,350.
  - 2 Lots, Percentage Females, Averaged $2,000.

Salers Carcasses Reserve Champions At The National Western

Salers, the cherry red French import, won reserve grand champion carcass pen of steers in the fed beef contest at the 1986 National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colo., January 8-19.

Salers have been grand or reserve champion five times in the past six years. There were 285 Salers entries in the Denver Show this year.

The success of the Salers is important to development of a new crossbreeding program for the American Bralers association to produce 5/8 Salers, 3/8 Brahman beef cattle.

"The Bralers breeders are now utilizing quality 1/2, 3/4 and fullblood Bralers in their program," said Fred Buxton, chairman of the ABA Communications Committee. "Our first purebred Bralers are now on the ground and showing promise of becoming the most functionally efficient beef breed in the country."

The American Bralers Association was founded in 1982, with 38 charter members and a board of directors representing cattle breeders throughout the Southwest. For more information on the organization contact Margaret Watkins, American Bralers Association, P.O. Box 41, Ganado, TX 79842-9804, (612) 782-3088.

Salers Sired Beef You Can Have Your Steak And Eat It Too

Finally, a steak that is tender, juicy, flavorful, and not bad for you. After years of testing and research, the U.S. Department of Agriculture in December approved two new terms in beef labeling: Natural and Lite.

Beef found to be at least 25 percent lower in fat and fed no artificial ingredients, hormones, etc. is eligible for such labeling. The first cattle breed found to be of such high quality? Salers-crossbreeds. In fact, XL Natural Beef, or Naturalite, a Salers-crossbred strain marketed in Denver was found to be 58 percent lower in fat than other choice steers.

During the last four years, several cattle breeders in the Southwest have dedicated their time and money to develop a Salers-cross superior to other American breeds. The American Bralers were the result.

Now the work is done. The first purebred Bralers are on the ground. And the face of the beef industry is about to change dramatically. Bralers (Brahmairs) combine the best of two worlds: The Salers, a French bred winning national carcass awards for the last seven years; and the Brahman, the common denominator of so many successful breeds. With a 5/8 Salers, 3/8 Brahman mix, the Bralers are destined to become the ultimate beef breed.

WJ Scruples 528, a daughter of Prince, was named National Western champion junior Salers heifer for youth exhibitor Jeff Ridinger of Falcon, Colorado at the 1986 National Western Stock Show. The heifer had previously been named the 1986 junior national champion at the American Royal in Kansas City, Missouri.

Administration Freezing Grazing Fees, Still Eyeing New Formula

Washington, Feb. 7 (KRP) - Since Congress failed to act on proposals to change the formula that determines how much ranchers pay to graze livestock on federal land, the administration has decided to freeze the fees that will be in effect for a year beginning March 1.

Meanwhile, USDA and the Department of Interior are soon to release a report to Congress analyzing new methods of figuring the fees to put into place beyond next year.

Keeping the fees at $1.85 per cow per month, which does not please livestock producers, said Dennis Stulte of the American Farm Bureau Federation. If the current formula were followed, the fees would be much lower this year, he said.

Assistant USDA Secretary Peter Myers agreed, estimating grazing fees would be about $.01 per cow per month under the existing formula. However, there are many factors at play in the administration's decision process, he said.

AMERICAN RED BRANGUS ASSOCIATION NEWS

Red Brangus Spring Spectacular Bulls At Affordable Prices

Over the past 6 years, the Spring Spectacular Bull Sale at Oakway Farms, Cameron, Texas, has gained a reputation second to none in the Red Brangus breed. In fact, more Red Brangus breeders have purchased herd sires at this sale than at any other breed event.

"Sure, we like what a few high priced bulls do for our sale average," says sale host John Sosnowy, "but the important sales are the ones in the $1,500 range with a few up to $2,500, with the bulls going to commercial cattlemen where they will increase weaning weights and yearling weights and help these cattlemen produce beef more efficiently. In fact, in our previous 6 sales, over 80% of our bulls were purchased by commercial cattlemen — and we expect that to hold true again this year."

80 top notch performance tested bulls, from progeny tested sires such as EXTRA, Red Brangus trait leader for both weaning and yearling weights and frame score, and SUPER EXTRA, breed trait leader for calving ease and feed conversion efficiency, will sell in the 7th Annual Red Brangus Spring Spectacular on Saturday, March 22, at Oakway Farms near Cameron, Texas.

50 outstanding Red Brangus heifers along with 3 embryo flush lots will sell at 10:00 a.m. After a complimentary lunch, the bull sale will begin at 1:00 p.m. "We think our performance testing program is what has put our sale a notch above the rest," says Sosnowy.

"We're the only Red Brangus sale where you get all the performance facts — not just weights and gain, but birth weights, frame scores, and bull's scrotal circumference, too! Our goal is to help the commercial cattlemen, as well as the Red Brangus breeder, take most of the guesswork out of bull selection."

"As an added incentive for the commercial cattlemen to do his bull buying here at the Spring Spectacular, we provide free delivery anywhere in the contiguous 48 states on purchases of 10 lots or more by one buyer. And you don't have to be present at the sale to buy. Mail us your sealed bids — they

Week Ending Feb. 6

The degree of volatility in the markets today is unprecedented! Prices for livestock, grains, metals, currencies, securities, and any other market that I can think of are moving with lightning speed. The bulls with their inflation and the bears with their deflation are in a death struggle every day.

Thus far the month of February is turning out to be a disaster. Every market is falling apart. The blame is placed on a crude oil market that is in the midst of a "free-fall" in price. Lower oil prices have historically placed downward pressure on all other markets. And that's what we are now experiencing.

As long as crude oil keeps falling, the markets will be focusing on disinflation. A falling U.S. dollar and falling U.S. interest rates have taken a back seat as the leading fundamental, offsetting prices.

The livestock complex: The critter market has no character whatsoever.

seems to help price. Last week, for example, a "bullish" Cattle on Feed Report supported the market for a few days. But after the enthusiasm wore off, prices came tumbling down. The April live cattle contract, for example, fell from $54 to $53.95 in just 8 days. Many hearts were broken on this one I'm sure.

The pork complex has been just as bad. The demand for pork has been terrible. On top of that, there is renewed talk about too many Canadian hogs being dumped on our markets. Lots of bad news around and not much good news. The schizophrenic pork bellies have fallen nearly $6.40 in the past 7 days and the hogs fell to an 18 week low. Technically the hogs and bellies appear to be in downtrends. All in all, not a pretty sight.

In a past column I suggested that traders buy hogs and sell bellies, as a spread, the day before the last Pig Crop report. I thought that the difference between the two markets would narrow.

The spread could have been done with difference is 123¢. Take profits in the spread and stand aside.

The grain complex: The grains, like so many other markets, keep drifting lower due to falling crude oil prices. And added negative force on the soy complex was unexpected rains in Brazil. When the rains came and covered much of the Brazilian growing areas, many Chicago traders began liquidating their "longs" and started going "short."

With the chaos in the surrounding markets the grains were easy prey for the "bears." Beans and meal fell to a 9 week low, new crop corn to contract lows and new crop wheat to a 23 week low. Most selling pressure is on the new crop.

Continue to buy the breaks and lighten up on the rallies. There's still a modest bull case to be built for grain prices. Old crop could improve, but the new crop is bearish.

The cotton market: The cotton market experienced its most severe setback in over a year this past week. Prices fell out of fear that the government would be increasing the supply of cotton onto the market. The additional supplies would be from existing loan programs.

Trading was extremely heavy and prices fell hard. As long as additional cotton is thrust onto the market, the possibility exists that prices are going lower.

In early January I urged traders to "bear" spread the cotton market by selling July and buying December at a difference of 1135 or greater. The market was kind enough to stay that wide and wider for several weeks. Today it closed at 88¢.

Let the spread run. Take profits if it closes greater than 102¢. A little more negative news on the old crop or a weather scare on the new, and that cotton spread will turn out to be a real nice winner.

"Trading ideas for the cattle market: It looks as if the commodity funds are now "short" the cattle market. They went "long" the market following the last C.O.F. report and got hit pretty hard on the recent $4 break. After liquidating their "longs," they went "short." It's the old "if it won't go up, it must go down" approach to trading.

This could be an important ingredient needed to fuel a bull move later this month. If I'm correct about the cattle going higher in the near future, the funds are going to give us a bit of help. I love it. This market is becoming more interesting every week!

The upside target for the April cattle contract is $66 to $70. The April contract should lead the rest of the month.

Houston Brahman Show Dedicated to White & Hudgins

Houston, — The Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo's International Brahman Show will be dedicated to two pioneer breeders and past presidents of the American Brahman Breeders Association.

Edgar Hudgins, Hungerford, TX and J.T. White of Houston, TX will be recognized for their lifetime contributions to the Brahman breed.

Hudgins is a member of the famous J.D. Hudgins ranching family whose name has become synonymous with Brahman cattle. His foundation herd sire Manso was one of the truly great sires of the Brahman breed and is still having an influence on Brahman cattle today. Hudgins has spent his life serving the cattle industry and the breed in leadership roles. He served as president of the American Brahman Breeders Association from Feb. 12, 1963 to Feb. 10, 1965 as well as director since 1965.

J.T. and his partner, wife Katie, have built a reputation around the globe for quality Brahman cattle. His herd has been visited by breeders throughout the world. The White's emphasis was never on quantity, but quality. The influence of their cattle can be seen even today in the Brahman show ring. Bulls like 449, sold to John and Hope Jefeost, are continuously siring championship performing cattle.

Like Hudgins, White served ABBA as president from Feb. 10, 1955 to Feb. 21, 1958. These were real trying times for the U.S. cattle industry and the strength of those two men and the contributions they have made justified this honor for them.

Both will be recognized at the bull judging on Thursday morning, February 20 at the Astro Hall. In releasing this information, ABBA President Sloan Williams said, "Our breed is fortunate to have as member men the caliber of J.T. White and Edgar Hudgins. Their stamina, toughness and perseverance are the traits that made America great and Brahman cattle known the world over."

Survival Seminar Set For Pittsburg

Agricultural producers in East Texas and the nation are facing many critical decisions, says Tony Douglas, district director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Overton. To assist farmers and ranchers in making these decisions, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring meetings throughout the state. Such a meeting is planned for February 24 at the Ag-Youth Center in Pittsburg, Texas, and will be of special interest to beef cattle producers and dairymen.

If You Raise Coastal For Hay Or Grazing... YOU NEED THE Revolutionary PORCUPINE®

Or Porcupine Jr. Here's how it works...

The "PORCUPINE" SOIL AERATOR is designed to promote better grass growth. Greater soil water holding ability, better penetration of fertilizer into the soil and prevent hardpan. Simply use this tool to aerate your pastures all during the year, especially before fertilizing. The SOIL AERATOR punches thousands of slits 4 to 5 1/2" deep into the soil thus permitting the fertilizer to set down to the roots and not wash or blow away on topsoil. The pointed spikes are welded in a pattern on the unit to permit more soil penetration and maximum around "punching". This allows more water and moisture holding capacity for faster root growth. You can also attach twin harrows behind the SOIL AERATOR to break up cow chips and spread them at the same time... all this without any damage to the field, any new sprouts or present growth. Wheels are mounted on the tongue of the unit for transportation of the AERATOR. Simply Jack it up and place the wheels under it for easy movement from pasture to pasture or ranch to ranch. An 80 horsepower minimum tractor is recommended to pull the standard aerator. We also manufacture a smaller model of the Porcupine, which can be pulled with a 44 horsepower tractor. This model is 4 feet narrower in width, but has the same punching power as the standard Porcupine.

Brown Hosts First Junior Beefmaster Judging Contest

Immokalee, Fla. — The nation's first junior Beefmaster judging contest was held on Saturday, January 18, at the purebred headquarters of David C. Brown Beefmasters, Inc., near Immokalee, Florida. ### National Brahmousin Sale at Houston Set for February 18

Houston, TX — The 1986 National Brahmousin Sale will be a showcase for the most outstanding set of Brahmousin cattle ever assembled for public appraisal. Forty-two lots from nineteen consignors will sell in Houston at the Shamrock Hilton, 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, February 18th.

This will be the third national sale and according to sale chairman Carl Detering, Jr. the quality and selection are the highest to date. Says Detering, "We have tried to put together a very useful set of breeding age cattle featuring the finest genetics available in the breed. We have encouraged our consignors to dig deep into their herds and bring their best to Houston. We are very pleased with the offering and anticipate broad acceptance of this outstanding set of young useful cattle."

The goal of the National sale has traditionally been to offer frontline Brahmousin genetics to seedstock producers and to provide a showcase for the top animals in the breed. This year's sale will be no exception. Percentage and purebred heifers, many bred to the most popular bulls, will be a highlight of the sale. Additionally, a strong bull offering will provide bull buyers the opportunity to add proven genetics to their Brahmousin programs.

With the broad-based acceptance of the Brahmousin breed it is important to remember that the quality of genetics on which the breed is based will provide the foundation of long term success for the breed. Cattleman can feel secure that the cattle in this third National Sale will be stout, mainstream cattle that will shape the future of the Brahmousin breed.

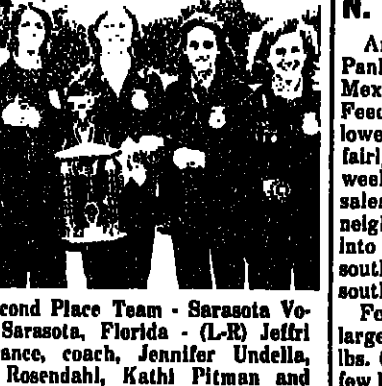

For more information or catalogues contact Carl Detering, Jr., 713/648-4886 or American Cattle Services 405/938-8066.

NCA Group Studies Beef Research At Texas A&M

College Station—Some 130 members of the National Cattlemen's Association (NCA) paid a visit to Texas A&M University Saturday to study beef research then continued on to the Granada Corporation's Pecan Valley Ranch near Wheelock prior to the opening of the NCA's 1986 convention and trade show Jan. 27-29 in San Antonio.

The pre-convention bus tour took NCA members from San Antonio to College Station Jan. 24, and returned to San Antonio late the following day. Beef cattle specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, narrated the tour, calling attention to agricultural highlights as the group traveled through Bosque, Comal, Guadalupe, Llano, Caldwell, Bastrop, Lee, Burleson and Brazos counties.

The NCA visit to Texas A&M was coordinated by Dr. O.D. Butler, who is retiring Jan. 31 as associate deputy chancellor for agriculture with the Texas A&M University System. David Eller, chairman of the TAMU System Board of Regents and Granada's chief executive officer and board chairman, and Jim Eller, founder and co-owner of Granada, were hosts for Granada.

At Texas A&M, the visiting cattlemen toured the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory and heard discussions about sophisticated tests conducted at the facilities. The next stop was A&M's Meat Science and Technology Laboratory where Dr. Perry Atkinson, assistant chancellor of the Texas A&M System, welcomed the group and introduced speakers.

Highlights of brucellosis research were described by Dr. Garry Adams, head of a research task force working toward a solution to the problem. Others narrating demonstrations were Dr. Jeff Savell, electrical stimulation for beef carcasses; Homero Redo, instrument grading of beef carcasses; and Dr. J.T. Keston, new manufactured beef products.

The ranchers, who represented many states, heard four researchers and an Extension specialist highlight some of their work of interest to cattlemen during a visit to Kleberg Animal and Food Sciences Center.

Dr. Steve Smith discussed decreasing fat deposition in heifers with repartitioning agents. Dr. Russell Cross presented an update on the National consumer beef described integrated brush management system and Dr. Monte Rounquette spoke on beef forage systems. All are scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Dr. John Beverly, Extension animal reproduction specialist and animal science project supervisor, spoke on Extension's integrated resource management program in beef cattle.

At the close of A&M presentations, David Eller showed a just-completed videotape which illustrated how Granada is using biotechnology in such efforts as embryo transfer and embryo splitting in its ongoing commitment to research worldwide.

After previewing the videotape, NCA members boarded buses and traveled to Granada's Pecan Valley Ranch for lunch and to hear comments by Orville G. Bentley, Assistant Secretary for Science and Education, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Jim Eller moderated a session on Granada and the commercial cattle industry. Joseph Massey presented an overview of Granada Genetics, Inc., while Ken Bondoli described genetic and reproductive research at Granada. Joe Oden spoke

USDA Bans Meat Exports to U.S. From Mexico, Haiti

Washington, (KRF) — As of Mar. 7, USDA will remove Mexico and Haiti from the list of 42 countries eligible to export meat products to the U.S.

USDA published an interim rule in February 1984 withdrawing Haiti and Mexico from the list because the two countries had failed to implement satisfactory residue testing and specific verification programs required by the Federal Meat Inspection Act. Under that act, a country must maintain inspection standards at least equal to those of the U.S. in order to export meat products to the U.S. USDA said Mexico did not meet these standards.
